

solution 2:

```
p{ font: bold 24px Arial, sans-serif;
color: crimson;
}
p.copy{
font-style: italic;
font-weight: bold;
line-height: 2em;
}
p#footer{
font-size: 12px/2em Helvetica, Arial, sans-serif;
}
```

solution 1:

Fonts which are used commonly are either bold or not bold .Since there is only one change, the other values are not used.

solution 3:

Unit of measurement is missing in p {font-size: 24;} . Measurements that don't include a unit of length are not legal, unless it is specified that it is allowed.

solution 4:

If we want to make font larger it should be more than 100%. since its 75% it is smaller.